DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-32 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Claims 1-32 are allowed since certain key features of the claimed invention are not taught or fairly suggested by prior art. In claim 1, "driving thin film transistors, wherein each thin film transistor has a semiconductor active layer with a channel region electrically connected to each of the self-luminescent elements to supply current to each of the self-luminescent elements, wherein the channel regions of the semiconductor active layer in at least two sub-pixels are arranged in different directions". In claim 12, "driving thin film transistors, wherein each thin film transistor has a semiconductor active layer having a channel region connected to the self-luminescent elements of the sub-pixel in order to supply current to the selfluminescent element, wherein the channel regions of the semiconductor active layers in at least two different colored sub-pixels are arranged in different directions". The closest prior art Voutsas et al. (2003/0025119) teach a LCD device with optimized channel characteristics of thin film transistors on polysilicon films and a crystal orientation region. A second set of TFTs (365) having channels (367) are substantially perpendicular to the first set of TFTs (345) and channels (347), however, Voutsas et al. fail to teach or suggest where at least two sub-pixels are arranged in different directions. Therefore, the prior art does not singularly or in combination with other prior art, anticipate or render the above underlined limitations obvious.
